Optional express repair

If it has to be quicker and you are absolutely dependent on a functioning assembly, we offer you this additional service as part of our product overhaul repair service.

With our express repair, which is carried out by our experienced technicians to exactly the same quality standards as a normal general overhaul repair, you will receive your assembly back in full working order within a few days. Your assembly is always prioritised in our internal repair process.

We offer this service on our manufacturer-independent product portfolio for a small surcharge. This means that a possible machine failure does not weigh heavily and you can resume production immediately.

On the other hand, do you need a functioning assembly the next day or even the same day, as your operations must not come to a standstill under any circumstances?

In this case, we recommend our replacement service, which we can also deliver immediately within a few hours thanks to our express courier service.
